successful. The Turks moved their forces by sea and along the coast to strengthen the right wing which they directed at meeting what they believed to be the main attack. Meanwhile the Bulgarians were really converging at Eski-Saba, whither they had been hurried by converging forces from before. The Bulgarians' main force was thus superior to the Turkish force at Eski-Saba. The Bulgarians were able to hurl them back, believing that the total Turkish force numbered 250,000 comparing with 100,000 Bulgarians, the latter being obliged to leave many men around Adrianople.

Serious News From Front.

Constantinople, November 1. A serious news has been received from the front. The Council of Ministers is still sitting at the Porte. It is believed that the ministers are discussing the advisability of concluding a peace with the Balkan states. The exact nature of the latest advance from the battle line in Thrace has not been made known, but last night the government received the following report from Nazim Pasha, War Minister and commander of Turkish forces:

Our Eastern army has been engaged for the last four days in serious fighting with the Bulgarian forces between Lule Burgas and Viza. Our corps at Lule Burgas and to the north are offering vigorous resistance to the enemy advancing in this direction.

The citadel at Adrianople is still being out. Our forces in the neighborhood of Viza are making successful advances.

Still earlier official advices stated that a Bulgarian force of 30,000 men had taken up a position in the mountains, where the retreat of the Bulgarians had been out off.

Turks Completely Routed.

Sofia, October 31.—The Bulgarian army has completely routed the main Turkish army under Nazim Pasha. The Turks fled in disorder, leaving many killed and wounded on the field. The battle, regarded as the most important engagement since the war's beginning, continued three entire days. The fighting line reached from Lule Burgas eastward to Serai. The Ottoman troops retreated to Tchorlu, twenty-one miles south of the positions from which they were driven.

The town of Tchorlu, where the Turks are expected to make another stand, occupies an important position on the main road and on the railway between Constantinople and Adrianople at the point where the road from the port of Rodosto joins. Unless the Turks hold this place they will be unable to bring any more troops from Asia Minor by way of Rodosto.

Turks are Barbarous.

London, October 31.—The Serbian legation has received a dispatch from Belgrade giving accounts by returned Serbian officers of atrocities committed by the Turkish troops before abandoning the country conquered by the Serbians. "Whenever the Turks passed," says the dispatch, "the Serbian army found only land strewn with bodies of men, women and children, mutilated in the most barbarous fashion. Bodies of men were also found bound to trees. They had been burned alive by means of fire kindled under their feet. One body bore indications of having been roasted on a gridiron."

Islands are Occupied.

Athens, October 31.—Admiral Countouriotis, in command of the Greek squadron in the Aegean announces that the islands of Thasos and Sobros have been occupied and the Greek flag raised.

Thasos is a dependency of Turkey.

It has an area of 150 square miles and a population of about 12,000, mainly Greeks.

All Christians massacred.

Sofia, October 31.—The Bulgarian army is vigorously pursuing the Turks, who are retreating in disorder and panic on Serai and Tchorlu. Many guns and large quantities of ammunition have been captured. Alvali, near Lule Burgas, and Maras have been burned. All the Christian inhabitants, according to the Bulgarians, were massacred.

Montenegrins Enter Ipek.

Riska, October 31.—General Vukitch, head of the victorious Montenegrin troops, entered Ipek Wednesday afternoon. The Serbian inhabitants, bearing flags, acclaimed the victors.

Ipek, which is also known as Petitch, is in the vilayet of Kosovo, about fifteen miles from the Montenegrin frontier. In the Middle Ages it was the seat of the Serbian patriarchs, and after the Montenegrins occupied the town a thanksgiving service was held in the old patriarchal cathedral.

Will Not Accept Armistice.

London, October 31.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle sends the following: "The Serbian Foreign Minister and the Greek Premier, who brought about the Balkan alliance, started for Paris today. It is supposed to negotiate with Premier Poincaré."

It is understood that the Bulgarian army, in following up its successes, will advance on Constantinople.

The Balkan allies will not accept an armistice, but are willing to negotiate peace direct with Turkey."

Glen at Cape Charles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Cape Charles, Va., October 31.—At a Democratic meeting held here this evening Congressman Charles W. Glenn, of the Northern Neck County in the Casino, a large and enthusiastic audience was present. The speaker was introduced by chairman George F. Parsons, made a stirring call to the Democracy of the county. Mr. Glenn was warmly greeted. The platforms and policies of the three parties were discussed.

Proceeding the meeting an automobile parade took place, in which voters from the whole county took part.

County Electoral Board.

T. C. Ruffin, W. B. Prayner and H. C. Beattie, composing the Electoral Board of Northern Neck County, will hold their final meeting at the courthouse tomorrow morning for the purpose of distributing the ballots which will be used in the general election on Tuesday. Officers for the various polling places have been selected at a previous meeting and instructions will be sent to them by the committee tomorrow.

Remember About Census Day.

It is reported that the deed to the estate of the late Captain John C. Glenn, of Glen, which has been sold to a syndicate, is awaiting transfer. It will be made to William W. Adams, Jr. of Glen, and W. C. Saunders. They will, it is said, develop the property, which is still lacking pending the formal transfer.

a liar and a crook, meaning Hockin had not lost the check."

Brennan testified that he was all Hockin in said he knew about it.

United States Marshal Edward H. Schmidt was called upon to produce the package referred to in Brennan's testimony. Schmidt opened the package, identifying the fuse, dynamite caps, alarm clock and the date of the newspaper in which they were wrapped. He said the check for the package had been delivered to him by District Attorney Miller.

Attorney Thorne to Brennan.

Judge Albert B. Anderson at first questioned whether it was not dangerous to have the fuse and caps in court, but afterward allowed them to remain.

Walter Drew, who lives in New York, recently was a witness, and testified that Hockin repeatedly had warned him that "the fellows on the Pacific coast are after him."

Drew, as counsel for the National Erectors' Association, was on the trail of the dynamiters before the McNamara and Artie E. McNamara were arrested, and Burns was present in Indianapolis when Samuel Gerber, a local detective, personally took John J. McNamara in custody. Burns accompanied McNamara when James Hockin, an agent of California, took the prisoner to Los Angeles.

J. A. G. Badoff, who testified that Hockin confessed to having "tipped off" the identity of the Los Angeles Times dynamiters, was cross-examined this afternoon by Senator John W. Kern, counsel for the defense.

"When Hockin told you he had gotten in touch with Burns two weeks after the Los Angeles explosion, did he tell you now he did it?" Badoff was asked.

"No, he did not tell me how. I told him he was a fool for allowing Burns to get a reputation as a detective on information he was furnishing."

"Did Hockin say he was guilty of dynamiting?"

"He said he thought he might plead guilty, and gave me to understand he was in for it. He said he thought all they could give him was eighteen months or two years."

Badoff was then asked whether Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was not in the habit of signing blank checks. A defense is that Ryan signed many checks in blank and did not know to what use McNamara put them. Badoff said he did not remember telling Ryan that that was a loose way of doing business. Hockin is secretary of the union, and occupies the desk formerly used by McNamara.

ing for embassies and legations of the United States abroad. President Taft signed the formal proclamation announcing the Vice-President's death, providing for observances and paying tribute to Mr. Sherman's life and work. Colonel Daniel N. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, transmitted to Senators the official notification of the death of their presiding officer.

The text of the proclamation is as follows: "To the People of the United States: James Schoolcraft Sherman, Vice-President of the United States, died at his home in Utica, N. Y., at 9:42 o'clock on the evening of October 30, 1912. In his death the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens and one of its most efficient and faithful servants."

Elected at an early age to the mayorship of his native city, the continued confidence of his community was shown by his election for ten terms as a representative in the national Congress. As a legislator he at once took and retained high rank and displayed such attributes of upright and wide statesmanship as to commend him to the people of the United States for the second highest office within their gift.

"As presiding officer of the Senate he won the respect and esteem of all for his fairness and impartiality. His private life was noble and good. His genial disposition and attractiveness of character endeared him to all whose privilege it was to know him. His devotion to the best interests of his native land will endure his memory to his fellow-countrymen."

"In honor to his memory and the eminent and various services of this high official and patriotic public servant, I direct that on the day of the funeral the executive offices of the United States shall be closed and all posts and stations of the army and navy shall display the national flag at half-mast, and that the representatives of the United States in foreign countries shall pay appropriate tribute to the illustrious dead for a period of thirty days."

"In witness whereof I have hereunto

Senate to Attend in Body.

New York, October 31.—Senator Bacon, President pro tem. of the Senate, announced to-night that the Senators who will attend Vice-President Sherman's funeral would leave here in a body at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning over the New York Central for Utica. Earlier in the day, Senator Bacon directed Colonel Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, to notify each Senator that the entire Senate had been appointed a committee of the whole to attend the funeral. Senator Bacon added that no place of meeting in New York had been selected for the Senators prior to their departure for Utica, but he thought they would meet at the Grand Central Station. A number of Representatives, he said, would accompany them.

"I have also invited the Chief Justice and other justices of the United States Supreme Court, on behalf of the Senate, to attend the funeral with us," said Senator Bacon. "It is probable that several of the justices will accept the invitation."

Inasmuch as the Supreme Court has been invited on behalf of the Senate to attend the funeral, all of the court's expenses incidental to the trip will be borne by the Senate.

Discussion of Successor.

New York, October 31.—The selection of a successor to Vice-President Sherman as the Republican candidate to go before the electoral college in January was the subject of an informal discussion to-day among members of the Republican National Committee, now in New York. Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, has been advanced as the choice of several members of the committee, but no effort has been made as yet to settle upon a candidate.

The fact that Chairman Hillis delayed the meeting of the national committee until November 12, a week after election, will, it is believed, prevent any general agreement upon the vice-presidential candidate, until after the results of election are known.
